Dear Mr Prime Minister

~~My name is Ben. I'm seven years old. I want to tell you about my family. I have an older sister and a Granny and a mummy. Sometimes my I want to play with my sister, and she says she will play with me later.~~

Dear Mr Prime Minister.

My name is Ben, and I am seven years old. I have an older sister called Jenna, a Granny, and a mummy. I was wondering if you could help me, because my mummy says you are in charge of the whole country and so I ~~th~~ know you can help. My family don't always do what they say they will do. Sometimes I ask my sister to play teddies with me and she

She says she will later. Later I ask her again but she is on the phone and... Sometimes, she has left before I can^{even} ask her. Jenna says that I am the best little brother ever. So why doesn't she play with me?

My Grammy says that she will come to the park with me. She says that when she gets her new hip then she will come and play. She's been waiting for a new hip since I was four. Mummy says that there's a long list of people who are waiting also. She says that sometimes it can take weeks just to see the doctor even if you are ill. I can't wait for my Grammy to get her new hip because then she can play with me ~~some~~ ^{play} outside. She can't move very well now, so she stays inside. Even though inside^{too} is cold. ~~Sometimes~~ I hope that maybe you could ask the doctors for a new hip for my Grammy, she has been waiting for a long time.

My Mummy says lots and lots of things. She says she will come to see my play at school. But she doesn't always ~~make it~~ ^{come}. My Mummy works a lot, and she has to work a lot at the time so we can eat and have water and ~~electric~~ ^{have the lights on} ~~electricity~~ during the night. She says ~~other things too~~. She will buy me new clothes and new toys but she never does. I don't mind though, I have lots ³⁰⁰ of toys and my favorite blue top. Mummy says when she has enough money then we can turn the lights on in the daytime, and water then ⁴⁰⁰ ~~fast~~ whenever we want. She says it will always be warm inside and we can buy lots of new clothes all at the time. Mummy also says that you can give us money. She says that you are in charge of the government who give out all the money. She said that you give money to the doctors so they can make people better. She said that you give out money to people when they can't afford ~~now~~ to have the lights on. I asked her why we don't have money, and she said there isn't enough for us...

Sometimes, I watch you on the telly.
 I point at you and say "It's the Prime Minister." When you're on the telly you say that you are doing everything you can. You say that you are giving lots of money to doctors and to people with no money. Why do you say that when it's not true? ~~If you had given~~ If doctors have all the money, then why doesn't my Granny have a hip? Why can't my mummy buy me new clothes like yours? And why can't we turn the ~~electricity~~ lights on in the daytime like you? I hope that you can help me Mr. Prime Minister so that one day I can ~~be~~ have all the things that you do.

Commission 3

Music has existed since the ~~first~~ ~~create~~ ~~that~~ dawn of time. It has crept along from century to century through religions and anarchists. Rock, Pop and Soul. Music is something that brings us together, especially after so long apart.

The last live music I heard before the pandemic was Kylie Minogue in the legendary spot of the last Glastonbury festival. Sunday was burning hot, and even worse straggled into a sweaty crowd. We had trekked over from where we camp just to see her. My mum and I stood a way back. Kylie herself barely a spot in the distance. My dad didn't particularly like to watch the music performances. So we didn't expect him to ~~be anywhere near~~ ^{come anyway.} ~~her the stage.~~

Five minutes before the scheduled start to the show I get a text. It's my dad, and he's on stage. Well, watching from the side. I try to text him back but ~~he doesn't~~ it doesn't send and me and my mum ~~are~~ ^{are} let wondering how he managed that.

The show itself was incredible. Kylie is ~~an icon~~ more than enough or a legend legend to take the spot and with the hype of ~~the~~ ^{an} excitable crowd ~~each and every song~~ ~~was~~ ~~one~~ ~~to~~ ~~remember~~ ~~of~~ ~~each~~ ~~song~~ ~~came~~ ~~at~~ the end of a long weekend ^{was} kept looking up.

My mum knew all the words to all the songs, as did the people around us. I did not. Seemingly, despite the fact she is from down under, Kylie has worked her way in, with the Killers, to become a British musical icon. I guess that's an odd thing though, that somebody who is famous for ^{an} ~~an~~ Australian television ^{show} can become so culturally relevant on the other side of the globe. I suppose that's because music can speak to anyone. Anyone can enjoy a good tune, even if you don't understand it or, like me, simply don't know the words.

As the set wound down there was still one song on everyone's mind. The absolute classic that is "I'm Spinning around". It was ^{that} this years Alesh mob song, and also the only one I knew. Sure enough, the song came, the crowd sang and ~~danced~~ danced, confetti went up into the air and then... it was over. Another act, another legged slot another festival was over for ~~hundreds~~ ^{thousands} of people, both public and crew. At that point we didn't know what would become of the next two years. For many people that would be the last live music they saw until 2022. For thousands of crew they didn't know that this would be the last festival they would work at for three years.

Now ^{roughly} we know that Glastonbury is back, we are all looking forwards to returning to the farm and watching singers, dancers, ~~actors~~ speakers ~~all over~~ and actors for the best five days of the summer. Crews are coming back together, and preparing to entertain us. But Kylie's performance will always stick in my mind. The last ~~best~~ act of the last festival and how it has inspired me to go on despite everything that has happened, we're
